UN PEACEKEEPING IN AFRICA

From the Suez Crisis to the Sudan Conflicts

ADEKEYE ADEBAJO

Nearly half of all UN peacekeeping missions in the post–Cold War era have been in Africa, and the continent currently hosts the greatest number (and also the largest) of such missions in the world. Uniquely assessing five decades of UN peacekeeping in Africa, Adekeye Adebajo focuses on a series of questions.

ZIMBABWE IN TRANSITION

A View from Within

TIM MURITHI AND AQUILINA MAWAZDA (EDITORS)

Zimbabwe's transition to democracy in the post-independence era has been a very difficult one. To date, there have been a number of sustained efforts by various local, regional and international actors to move Zimbabwe towards democracy as well as attempts to find a lasting solution to the political and economic crises that seriously affected the country's progress from the late 1990s.

WHO KILLED HAMMARSKJÖLD?

The UN, the Cold War and White Supremacy in Africa

SUSAN WILLIAMS

Susan Williams has written a shocking exposé of the true story behind the death of the celebrated UN Secretary-General, Dag Hammarskjöld, published to coincide with the fiftieth anniversary of Hammarskjöld's death. His death and that of his UN team in a plane crash in central Africa in 1961 is one of the great mysteries of the twentieth century, and one with huge political resonance.

SAN ROCK ART

Jacana Pocket History and Biography Series

J.D. LEWIS-WILLIAMS

San rock paintings are scattered over the entire area of southern Africa and present us with one of the greatest cultural treasures of humankind. It is estimated that some 15,000 rock art sites are known and possibly as many await discovery. But how are we to make sense of their images often baffling in their complexity and strangeness?

SHAKA

Jacana Pocket History and Biography Series

DAN WHYLLIE

We all picture Shaka as a lean, mean, assegai-wielding warrior-king, the military genius who founded the Zulu nation. In fact, we don't actually know when he was born, what he looked like, or exactly when he died. This biography draws on the last two decades of historical research to reassess the eyewitness accounts and use newly available oral traditions.

STEVE BIKO

Jacana Pocket History and Biography Series

LINDY WILSON

Steve Biko is often seen as the charismatic leader of the Black Consciousness Movement, who played a useful stopgap role in South African politics in the late 1960s and 1970s. This biography of Biko shows, on the contrary, just how fundamental he was to the transformation of South Africa in the second half of the 20th century – and just how relevant he remains today.

THE LAW AND THE PROPHETS

Black Consciousness in South Africa, 1968-1977

DANIEL R. MAGAZINER

The 1970s are a decade virtually lost to South African historiography. This span of years bridged the banning and exile of the country's best-known anti-apartheid leaders in the early 1960s and the furious protests that erupted after the Soweto uprisings of June 16, 1976. Scholars thus know that something happened – yet they have only recently begun to explore how and why.

DIAMONDS, DISPOSSESSION AND DEMOCRACY IN BOTSWANA

KENNETH GOOD

Is Botswana still 'an African miracle'? Thanks to diamonds the country's growth rate was the highest in the world into the 1990s, and regular parliamentary elections judged free on polling day have been held since 1965. However a duopoly of presidentialism and ruling party preponderance has stimulated arrogance, complacency and corruption among the country's rulers.

THE MAPUTO CONNECTION

ANC Life in the World of Frelimo

NADJA MANGHEZI

The Maputo Connection is an intimate history of the relationship between the ANC and the peoples of Mozambique, a reflection on the personal sacrifices that accompanied their support of South African freedom fighters and a profound gesture of respect to the country that understood that without the liberation of South Africa there would be no liberation of southern Africa.

A LIFE'S MOSAIC

The Autobiography of Phyllis Ntantala

PHYLLIS NTANTALA

Born in the 1920s, Phyllis Ntantala lived her early life in a world of relative privilege. After school at Healdtown and Lovedale, she attended the University of Fort Hare – all premier educational institutions for Africans – where she met her future husband, A.C. Jordan. Her gripping story is not of a struggle to escape from poverty and obscurity but of a creative and articulate black woman's search for identity and fulfilment.

DEAR AHMEDBHAI, DEAR ZULEIKHABEHN

GOOLAM VAHED AND THEMBISA WAETJEN (COMPILERS)

Extraordinary stories can sometimes be found in ordinary letters. This is the discovery that awaits readers of this gentle and beautifully written correspondence between a political prisoner and a self-described housewife during apartheid's last decade. The circumstances of loss prompting Rivonia trialist Ahmed Kathrada to write a letter of sympathy to a former flat-mate Abdulhak "Bis" Bismillah are met with an unexpected reply from Bis's sister.

LANDMARKED

Land Claim and Land Restitution in South Africa

CHERRYL WALKER

As post-apartheid South Africa began to take shape in the early 1990s, the country committed itself to a programme of land restitution to redress the brutal uprooting and relocation of people under apartheid. After 1994 this programme came to form one leg of a wider process of land reform.

A MATTER OF HONOUR

Being Chinese in South Africa

YOON JUNG PARK

The South African-born Chinese community is a tiny one, consisting of 10 000 to 12 000 members in a population of approximately 45 million. Throughout much of the history of this most race-conscious country, the community has been ignored or neglected, and officially classed along with Coloureds (people of mixed race) or with Indians in that particularly South African category of 'Asiatic'.

A ELUSIVE HARVEST

Working with Smallholder Farmers in South Africa

DAVID CATLING

The Land Development Unit (LDU) was a small; non-government organisation (NGO) engaged from 1992 to 2004 in agricultural and rural development in the Western and Northern Cape provinces. At its inception, agriculture was the weakest link in the array of support to rural communities in the region – the small, disadvantaged farmers in the Coloured Rural Areas and black vegetable growers in the townships.

NEW SOUTH AFRICAN KEYWORDS

NICK SHEPHERD AND STEVEN ROBINS (EDITORS)

This book sets out to do two things. The first to provide a guide to the key words and key concepts that have come to shape public and political thought and debate in South Africa since 1994. The second purpose is to provide a compendium of cutting-edge thinking on the new society. In this respect some of the most exciting thinkers and commentators on South Africa have tried to capture the complexity of current debates.

ANC

A View from Moscow

VLADIMIR SHUBIN

This book describes the history of the African National Congress (ANC) of South Africa in the three decades following its banning. There are many myths surrounding the ANC: some of them are harmless, the product of enthusiastic supporters; others are malicious, disseminated by those in South Africa and abroad who did their best to prevent the victory of the ANC and still cannot accept that victory as a reality.

POSTCARDS FROM SOWETO

MOKONE MOLETE

Postcards from Soweto is a memoir of sorts. In a series of postcard vignettes, Molete relates the anecdotes of “back in the day” when he was a child and could get away with just about anything except Mama’s wrath. The beauty of this memoir is that it charts not only the author’s youth – the beatings, the friends, the girls – but also the growth of a township called Soweto. At times amusing, and at other times unsettling, each vignette contains a wealth of atmosphere.

GOOD MUSLIM, BAD MUSLIM

America, the Cold War and the Roots of Terror

MAHMOOD MAMDANI

In this brilliant look at the rise of political Islam, the distinguished political scientist and anthropologist Mahmood Mamdani brings his expertise and insight to bear on a question that has been asked since September 11, 2001: how did this happen? Mamdani dispels the idea of “good” (secular, westernised) and “bad” (pre-modern, fanatical) Muslims, pointing out that these judgements refer to political rather than cultural or religious identities.
